Testimonials

"Mack Paciorek has an approach to baseball development and the recruiting process with an unmatched zeal for doing it right. If the recruit and (often more importantly) the parents are willing to trust in the process and stay out of the way of the process, Mack will be there opening doors to totally unanticipated opportunities. On the field or in the weight room, if I could choose anyone, I would want my kids coached and led by Mack Paciorek."

- Guy P. Glazier, father of Marine Corp Officer Garret Glazier, UC Irvine pitcher Miles Glazier and Amherst pitcher Carson Glazier

"My son's success as a Division 1 cadet-athlete for the United States Air Force Academy is in great part due to having the opportunity to be coached and influenced by Mack Paciorek. His recruitment was in large part to the lobbying by Mack with the USAFA staff. Mack taught my son to believe in himself and that he could achieve his goals by working hard, staying focused and doing the right thing."

- Lee Haslam, father of former Air Force Cadet Bradley Haslam, who led the Mountain West in hitting with a .408 average and a 44-game hit streak that was 6th best in NCAA history, signed professional contract with Philadelphia Phillies

"It is important to keep things in perspective and trust the process and your advisors throughout the recruiting process. I definitely have to thank Mack and his staff for much of the success I've had to this point."

- Jeff Bain, Freshman All-American at Cal-Berkeley, 2014 MLB Draft Pick of the Los Angeles Dodgers, 2017 MLB Draft Pick and current Minor League All Star with Arizona Diamondbacks (AA Jackson Generals)

"What you rarely find is the genuine concern Mack extends towards his athletes and the unbelievable insight he has about the recruiting process. He will go beyond the academics and athletics at a college and dig into the staff, the typical student, and even the weather. My son had the opportunity to play collegiately because of Mack's guidance. Many many thanks!"

- Bryan Smith, father of University of Texas Infielder Bryson Smith
